Captain ashby was very well pleased with the outcome of the game, for Virgina had not been on the floor since the game with Washington and Leu University iwo weeks ago. Coach Is Delayed.

Coach Is Delayed.

Coach Oils H. Stocksdale will not arrive until February 25. The cause of this delay is due to his case of reinstatement, which is now pending in the Southern League. He will have to report to a meeting of the league in New Orleans on February 22, and from there he will come directly to Chapel Hill to take charge of the candidates. Until he arrives Captain Hamilton will be assisted by "Rummy" Wren and "Farmer" Moore, who played in the Eastern Carolina League last year. The athletic authorities have secured Wren to coach the class teams this spring. Moore will have charge of the scrubs. There is ideal weather for practice, and the candidates are reporting in large numbers. Yester-day afternoon they engaged in a rather exciting tie game. The batteries were Mouser, Stewart and Moore, and Schimpf and Wadsworth. The final score was 4 to 4.

Moore, the young Wadeshore catcher, promises to be one of the Tastest catchers that Carolina has had in years. He has an excellent throwing arm, and is a good sticker. Duncan, the new second baseman, is showing up splendidly. He handles himself like a veteral.

a veteran.

The fiercest fight on the infield will undoubtedly be between Fountain and Winn at shortstep. Both are good half blayers, and the fight for the position will be interesting. Only one of the veteran outfielders is back, Hackney Carolina will miss olis Cole, who played such brilliant half in centre field last season. However, the outfield positions will be taken care of by such men as Graham, Bevens, McLain, Stacy, Roso, Avery and Page.

Henry Ellsworth's statement that the beautiful, quiet, pleturesque little village of Oberammergan, Bavaria, is without crime; that there has never been an arrest within its precincts that divorce is practically unknown, is certainly quite startling enough to cause his auditors to pause and thinkand think long and deeply. Mr. Ellsworth tells of the beautiful life lived by the villagers of the quaint little hamlet that rests in the valley surrounded by the grandeur of the Bavarian mountains—the village that has attracted the attention of the whole world, since it is the home of the great drama—the drama that is new, yet old, but which never falls to interest both old and young, the unbeliever and the believer alike. From Mr. Ellsworth's entertainment one obtains a clear idea of just what it is these devout, humble people impersonate ach decade of years, and his descriptions, his pleturesque and realistic scenes hold the attention of his audiences from start to finish, and after it is ended and the curtain falls on the last scene, one is conscious of the desira to see it all over again. Pierce, is at Newport News with a fire in her cargo of rope fibre. It was discovered in No. 3 hold, when the Sokoto, bound from Vera Crus, Mexico, to Halfax, N. S., was off the coast of Florida. Her latches were closed, and the Sokoto raced into Newport News. The fire is believed to be under control. The portion of cargo in No. 3 hold is valued at $30,000, but it cannot be told as yet what damage has been done. It is believed the Sokoto will be able to proceed to Halffax in a few days. At a late hour to-night the fire was still humins.

STATEHOOD IN SIGHT.

WASHINGTON, February 15.—The long struggle of Arizona and New Mexico for separate statehood was rewarded to-day, in so far as the House of Representatives is concerned, when that body, under suspension of the rules, unanimously passed the bill granting statehood to the two territories. Mr. Hamilton, Michigan, having the measure in charge, spoke briefly in support of it. He said it was not a party question. Both sides, he declared, "were now rallying to fulfill party pledges."

Mr. Smith, Arizona's delegate, made a plea for the passage of the bill. That such a bill had not been passed before, said he, was a matter which stood a shame against the record of Congress.
